

Rlte@Home Fact Sheet

Program Description

Rlte@Home is a shared living option available for adults who cannot live alone and require a considerable amount of help with the activities of daily living, such as eating, dressing, personal hygiene, etc. Rlte@Home provides an alternative to institutional care for those who meet clinical, financial and other program criteria. Rlte@Home is a consumer-directed service designed to maximize the control and choice a person has over the services that are provided. Rlte@Home is provided through the RI Medicaid Program at the Executive Office of Health and Human Services.

Eligibility

This service is available for Rhode Island seniors and adults with disabilities who are eligible for Medicaid Long Term Care (LTC) and are unable to live independently. To be eligible for Medicaid LTC, a person has to be determined financially eligible and must also meet certain clinical Level of Care criteria (highest or high). Persons interested in receiving Rlte@Home must also meet all appropriateness criteria listed below.

How it Works

Rlte@Home provides a home-like setting for individuals who cannot live alone but who want to continue to live in the community as long as possible. There are two components to understanding Rlte@Home: (1) the Rlte@Home agency and (2) the caregiver and the host home.

- Rlte@Home Agency

The Rlte@Home agency helps the person who needs care find an appropriate host home/caregiver. This may be someone the person already knows, like a relative, friend or neighbor. The Rlte@Home agency will “match” a client with a caregiver and will make sure the caregiver receives all needed training and support.

The Rlte@Home agency will, in conjunction with EOHHS:

- Oversee and monitor services;
- Ensure the safety of the host home;
- Provide training for the caregiver;
- Provide nursing support as needed, and
- Develop an individualized Rlte@Home Service and Safety Plan.

- The Caregiver /Host Home

Typically, the caregiver lives in his/her home and agrees to have the person needing care live with him/her. In some situations, the caregiver may agree to move into the care recipient’s home. The Caregiver is responsible for:

- Personal care, including assistance with Activities of Daily Living (ADLs)
- Homemaker services
- Chore services
- Meals
- Transportation
- Being on call 24/7
- Providing socialization and a home-like environment

Benefits for the Caregiver include:

- A stipend for providing 24/7 care
- Respite or time off from full-time care

Medicaid pays the RIt@Home agency for its role and provides funding for caregiver stipends. However, Medicaid does not pay for room and board. Room and board are typically paid from the client's SSI and/or Social Security check. Also, the client (recipient of care) may incur a "cost share" for the services (not including room and board), depending on his/her income.

- Appropriateness Criteria

Recipients must meet the following Appropriateness Criteria:

- A person is not a danger to themselves or others in the shared home.
- A person must be able to take action for self-preservation (such as exiting the home in case of fire) with the assistance of no more than one person.
- Both the caregiver and the recipient must be informed of and willing to assume a certain amount of risk regarding safety inherent in this type of living arrangement.
- A person must be free from communicable disease or infectious conditions in order to participate in RIt@Home.

Other Considerations

- Spouses or legally liable persons cannot serve as the paid caregiver.
- Adult Day Care - RIt@Home recipient is eligible to attend Adult Day Care. In that situation, the caregiver's stipend will be reduced for days when a person attends Adult Day Care. This gives the caregiver an opportunity for employment or pursuing other interests.
- Issues to be considered when matching a person to a caregiver:
 - Geographic location, pets, children in the home, lifestyle preferences, schedules, etc.
- Tax Considerations- The caregiver's stipend is tax-free when the care recipient lives in the caregiver's home.
